The Bookmobile Rolls On

IMAGINATION TO GO

There's something timeless about a library on wheels, and this spring, we are getting a fresh chapter.

Lincoln City Libraries' two new bookmobiles are officially on the move! These fully equipped mobile branches bring books, movies, music, games, and more directly into neighborhoods across Lincoln and Lancaster County. With space for more than 1,500 items, onboard Wi-Fi, and wheelchair accessibility, they're designed to meet people where they are and make library access easier than ever.

Service resumed on April 13, with regular stops serving communities throughout the city and county. From rural towns to neighborhoods without nearby branches, from kids to seniors, the bookmobile continues to be a vital link to library resources.

And while the vehicles are new, the mission is anything but.

Lincoln's bookmobile story dates back to 1941, when a Works Progress Administration program first delivered books to rural residents. In the decades that followed, the service grew and evolved, from a 1970s "Mini-Bookmobile" (a converted Winnebago!) to expanded routes and increasing circulation.

Generations of vehicles and library staff have carried stories across Lincoln and Lancaster County.

Today, the bookmobile continues to do what it has always done best: bring the library directly to our friends in our community.

So if you see one of the new bookmobiles out and about, step inside! You might find your next favorite book, or just a reminder that the library is never far away.
