STANDING COMMITTEE REPORTS
Committee on Administration
Request for Reconsideration Appeal
President Sloan noted that the Committee on Administration consists of Hale, Seacrest, and himself. The book in question is “Flamer” by Mike Curato. Director wieber denied a patron’s request to relocate the book from the Young Adult (YA) section to Adult. Sloan reported that the Committee on Administration also unanimously agreed to keep the book in the Young Adult section. Sloan asked for a motion. Shaw moved to deny the Appeal and keep the book in YA. Beutler seconded. Discussion: Sloan thanked the public speakers for their powerful and relevant comments. He found the book to be realistic to the reality of teen boys, but not offensive. He observed that the content felt relevant to him, even as a white, CIS male and stated his support for the book. Hale added that she’s now read it twice, and noted that in a 365 page book, the objections she has seen point to only four or five specific pages taken out of context of the whole story.

Director Wieber offered clarification of the request – that it was to reclassify the book as an Adult item and move it out of the Young Adult section. He shared that once a Request for Reconsideration is received in Administration, it’s sent to him, and he then sends it to the LCL Request for Reconsideration Committee. The Committee consists of 7-8 staff holding various positions at different branches who are all familiar with the Materials Selection Policy and the weight of what they’re considering. The entire committee reads the work in question, which sometimes requires the purchase of additional copies. They discuss the work and the patron’s request as a group and send their decision to the Director. Their report in this instance noted that the publishers and professional reviewers are in agreement that this book is properly made available to teens and Young Adults. Their professional review of the text also concluded it was accurate placement. They submitted their report to the Director, and in this instance, he upheld their conclusion and denied the request. Upon receiving his response, the patron exercised their right to appeal his decision to the Board.

President Sloan asked if the committee was divided in this instance and was informed, no, the LCL committee’s response was unanimous. Shaw shared, as a member of the LGBTQ community he found it heartening that books like these were available to young people now, as when he was young books addressing these issues were not available. He stated that a book like this would have been life changing in normalizing what he was feeling and could have helped explain it. He recalled that in the 1960’s and 70’s there were no books that spoke to young people like this book does. He reiterated the importance of books that speak to young LGBTQ people to keep them from feeling alone and isolated and commended LCL for having books like this in the collection.

Sloan clarified that an AYE vote will uphold Director Wieber’s denial of the request to relocate this title to the Adult section and called for the vote. ROLL CALL VOTE: Beutler, Ostrowicki, Seacrest, Shaw, Sloan, Gerteisen, Hale – AYE. Motion carried 7-0.

Committee on Finance

Approval of Monthly Recap of Expenditures for October, 2023

Treasurer Ostrowicki shared that the Library Operational Budget for October was $1,081,334.19. Additionally, the Heritage Room Fund used $2,619.99 and Polley Music Library used $8,694.29, totaling $1,092,648.47. Expenditures from other funds included grants at $5,026.69, Keno at $4,097.99 and from miscellaneous donations $21,379.73, totaling $30,504.41 for Total Expenditures of $1,123,152.88. Ostrowicki motioned to approve the expenditures. Hale seconded. There was no discussion. ROLL CALL VOTE: Ostrowicki, Seacrest, Shaw, Sloan, Gerteisen, Hale, Beutler – AYE. Motion carried 7-0.

Committee on Buildings and Grounds

Approval of Expenditure of no more than $67,131.00 to MJAG Construction Services, LLC for new first floor carpet at Bennett Martin Public Library.

Director Wieber shared that the Library was allotted $75,000 for the project in the biennial budget. The job was bid out, and three bids were received. The addition of a performance bond necessitated a second bid, and the same three companies rebid. The job was awarded to MJAG Construction of Bellevue. The job is scheduled to happen this winter, possibly as early as December. He shared that every effort will be made to minimize disruption, but Bennett Martin will need to be closed for at least three days for the project. Seacrest moved approval. Gerteisen seconded. There was no discussion. ROLL CALL VOTE: Seacrest, Shaw, Sloan, Gerteisen, Hale, Beutler, Ostrowicki – AYE. Motion carried 7-0.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE REPORTS

Foundation Executive Director Report

Gail McNair absent – no report.

NEW BUSINESS

Approval of the Polley Music Library Annual Report.

President Sloan noted that the report had been sent out for review and noted that it was good reading, and that many good events have happened this year. Ostrowicki motioned approval. Hale seconded. Polley Librarian Scott Scholz was invited to elaborate on the report. Scholz noted that the increase in programming post-COVID has been exciting and satisfactory. Programs have included bringing in varied musicians to discuss their work as well as hosting a regular songwriting club. They celebrated the 40th anniversary of the Polley music library which garnered some press attention. The Zagers have donated more guitars to the popular circulating collection and Scholz has continued to participate in community outreach to publicize the collection. There was no further discussion. ROLL CALL VOTE: Shaw, Sloan, Gerteisen, Hale, Beutler, Ostrowicki, Seacrest – AYE. Motion carried 7-0. Wieber expressed gratitude for Scholz, calling him “a genius at what he does” and that we’re lucky to have him at Polley. Sloan commended the diversity of Scholz’s programming choices

PRESIDENT’S REPORT

Sloan shared that he didn’t have a formal report, but that his month was spent working on the library system upgrade and book challenges.

ASSISTANT LIBRARY DIRECTOR’S REPORT

In Assistant Director Traci Glass’s absence, Director Wieber gave a brief update. He shared that in addition to the new carpet being planned at Bennett Martin, the new exterior signage at Eiseley, Walt, South and Bethany Branches is happening this week. Bookmobile consultant has drawn up new specs. We’re going back out to bid for two gas vehicles, instead of an EV Ford Transit. We will accept bids on the smaller, more agile, Mercedes-Benz Sprinters which are commonly used by other libraries. Once the order is placed, it will take 18-24 months to receive the vehicles. He shared that the ballot box installation has been approved by the City Council and the County Board. Those will be located at Gere, Eiseley, Anderson and Walt branches, likely before the end of the year.

LIBRARY DIRECTOR’S REPORT

Future Libraries Engagement Update with BVH and MSR Design.

Director Wieber shared that his report will be to share the final Phase 1 Report from BVH/MSR design. BVH architects Cleve Reeves and Mark Bacon attended in person, and MSR architect Matthew Kruntorad attended via Zoom to present the report. Wieber thanked Virtual Services staff, Rod Cummings and Andrew Inbody for their help setting up the new Zoom technology in the Bennett Martin auditorium for which funds were granted by Lincoln Rotary Club #14.

Kruntorad reviewed the attached summary report. He noted that more than 250 people participated in the community engagements, 567 online surveys were completed and there were 250+ contributions to the heat mapping exercises. A potential Phase 2 was outlined. There were no questions. Director Wieber shared that the committee will continue to meet to address Phase 2. Ostrowicki commended the value of the research done and the evidence based reporting that resulted. Sloan and Ostrowicki both noted that the community engagement has added excellent data to the process, and many folks expressed their thanks for LCL asking the questions and seeking out their participation, showcasing how engaged Lincolnites are in their libraries. Kruntorad reiterated the observation that compared to other cities, Lincolnites are highly engaged and participatory, enabling their report to be extremely reflective of Lincoln’s wants and needs for their library system. Seacrest commented that Lincoln’s sense of ownership of their libraries will help move the project forward. Bogen asked if there was a good diversity of people attending. Reeves replied that the full report reflects the diversity of respondents and agreed that it was broadly representative. He noted that the surveys were offered in multiple languages.

Impact of Fine-Free Libraries.

President Sloan reminded the Board of a community member’s concerns about the process and shared that Wieber and Library Coordinator Rebecca Aracena and her team had researched the impacts and were prepared to submit a report. Wieber reminded all that LCL has been entirely fine-free for over a year and was pleased to be able to report that despite a reduction in revenue, he was satisfied with the results shown by the attached report. Before turning the floor over to Aracena for a high level look at the data, he reminded the board it’s a known fact that library fines create an unintentional barrier to access. He noted that fine free policies at libraries have been implemented nationwide for over ten years, and that LCL made youth items fine-free in 2019 with no detrimental effects to service.

Aracena shared that the immediate direct impact was that over 30,000 customers had fines waived, encouraging them to return to the library. Staff at every branch received positive feedback from customers. Staff and customers’ immediate concern was if going fine free would negatively impact the time spent waiting on hold for popular books. Aracena’s department has been closely monitoring hold times and the ratios of available titles to the number of folks on hold and using that information to reorder when needed. The results are positive. In FY 22-23, placement of holds increased by 3.05% and fulfillment of holds increased by 5.37%. In fact, there has been an improvement of hold fulfillment time since going fine free. 76% of holds placed were filled within the first week, and less than 17% of holds took over four weeks to fill. She went on to report that older lost items are being returned at a greater rate, the accounts submitted for collection reflected much lower totals, and the value of items returned was .04% less than the previous year.

Aracena reported that work is being done to further improve speedy returns of overdue items by adding an additional notice to customers, reminding them that all fees are waived upon the materials’ return. She also shared that LCL staff report fewer daily, negative interactions with patrons regarding fines. There was no further discussion.

Why Go Fine Free?

Lincoln City Libraries went fine-free on September 1, 2022, in recognition of the impact that fines played in limiting library usage among low-income families and caregivers.

Overdue fines often unintentionally create a barrier to access for many residents. The practice of assessing fines has long been justified as an effective prompt for borrowers to return materials in a timely manner, so others can enjoy the library collection. Research has shown that while many users incur late fees, the ability to pay them depends greatly on income. Those who are able to pay can keep visiting and borrowing, however, those who are unable to pay, simply stop using the library—and in many instances fail to return overdue materials. Experience and data from other fine free libraries (see: Colorado Department of Education: Removing Barriers to Access, 2016) showed that the rate of return is not higher when people are fined for overdue materials.

Lincoln City Libraries first established a fine-free policy for overdue children’s items in 2019, and subsequently, there was not a noticeable decline in materials availability or increase in the rate of loss of items, however, no data was monitored nor collected during the succeeding years (2020-2022) due to the volatility and unreliability of library usage and data during the COVID pandemic.

Beginning in September 2022 and on a monthly basis, LCL collected data in several key areas to measure the effect of fine-free. The following data and charts help provide a general overview of the first year without fines—and for the foreseeable future LCL will continue to collect and report key data points to identify trends and determine solutions where appropriate for improved access to collections.
Immediate Direct Impact on Library Patrons

- 37,056 library customers had their old library fines waived on September 1, 2022.
- A total of $270,085 in library fines were waived.

FY 23-24 through October
On average, only 16% of items checked out are 1 week or more overdue.

Less than 13% of items checked out are over 3 weeks overdue. Items are set to Lost by the ILS at 3 weeks overdue.

There was not a significant change in the percent of items overdue. The percent of items overdue at the end of FY 2022-2023 was only 0.04% less than the end FY 2021-2022.
Conclusion

- In FY 22-23, Placement of Holds increased by 3.05%; Fulfillment of Holds increased by 5.73%
- There has been an improvement in hold fulfillment time since we went fine free. In FY 22-23, 76% of holds were filled the same week. Less than 17% of holds took more than 4 weeks to fill.
- The number of accounts submitted for collection services in FY 2022-2023 was on par with FY 2020-2021, but the total amount of those accounts was far lower, and the value of items returned was much higher.
- The percentage of returned items was higher in 2022-2023 than any of the previous 5 years, indicating that being fine free most likely encouraged patrons to return materials even if late, without worry of fines.
- There was not a significant change in the percent of items overdue. The percent of items overdue at the end of FY 2022-2023 was 0.04% less than the end FY 2021-2022.
- Fewer daily, negative interactions with patrons regarding overdue fines.
- We will add a new, earlier communication to patrons who have items marked as lost to improve quicker returns.

Preliminary Approach | System

each region of the Lincoln face challenges in service due to lack of investment - Central Lincoln faces the most challenges assign target capital investment commitment for operations and facilities in North, Central, and South Lincoln

1

2 priority one is Central Lincoln, priority two is North Lincoln, priority three is South Lincoln

3

North and South priority recommendations ideally occur simultaneously or shortly after Central Lincoln determine proper location of administrative space, collection, and special collections as part of priority one remain diligent and build upon success to finish medium and long term recommendations

Preliminary Findings | North Lincoln

Short Term Options
- Major renovation and addition to Eiseley
- Renovation and addition to Anderson

Medium Term Focus
- Moderate renovations to Bethany and Anderson

Long Term Goals
- Substantial expansion of Williams branch

Eiseley
- major renovation + addition
  - hands-on learning spaces and access to technology
  - workforce development and small business support
  - teaching kitchen and garden
  - outdoor space

Anderson
- moderate renovation

  - outdoor gathering space

Bethany
- moderate renovation
  - improved entry, 2nd means of egress
  - meeting rooms
  - gathering space in children’s

Eiseley poses substantial challenges for adaption to modern library services. Cost / value should be considered in the next phase considering a major renovation and addition to Anderson instead.
Preliminary Findings | Central Lincoln

Short Term Options
- Provide a replacement for Bennett Martin Public Library

Medium Term Focus
- revisit collection as new facility changes circulation dynamics

Long Term Goals
- promote upkeep and attention to new facility so it can serve as a decades-long solution

BMPL’s existing structure is substantially inefficient and would require partial demolition along with upgrades to everything except the superstructure.
Preliminary Findings | South Lincoln

Short Term Options
- Major renovation and addition to Gere Branch
- Moderate renovations of Walt and Gere

Medium Term Focus
- Major renovation of Walt

Long Term Goals
- New branch in the southeast to expand service potential

Gere and Walt pose substantial challenges for adaption. A cost/value analysis should be part of the next phase. Reductions in renovation scope for Gere and Walt while prioritizing a new branch may be warranted.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE REPORTS

Foundation Executive Director Report: Gail McNair

NEW BUSINESS

*Approval of a contract with BVH Architecture for Phase 1.1 architectural services not to exceed $389,200 – Action Item
The library is continuing Professional Services work with BVH Architecture for a “Phase 1.1” Facilities 10-15 year master plan to outline short and long-term improvements, enhancements for operations and service, and potential new branch concepts. The process will establish a prioritized plan with associated costs for library service at branch locations in North, Central, and South Lincoln.

This work with BVH initially began in 2021—was paused—and then resumed in July 2023 with a Phase 1 contract for community engagement and investigative/analysis focus. The library reappropriated $200,000 from current year funding to cover the anticipated $184,000 expenditure for Phase 1 with BVH. The library is now seeking to reappropriate $389,240 of prior year funds for the anticipated Phase 1.1 costs. We need board approval for the contract and approval by the Finance Director and the Mayor for reappropriating prior years’ funds, which is expected.

Final Deliverables include:

- Facilities Master Plan
- Collections assessment per branch
- Concept level floor plans and site plans for existing or new branches
- Cost estimates relative to each branch, existing or proposed– via deferred maintenance, renovations, or new builds
- Continued stakeholder engagement
- Findings and Recommendations Executive Summary Report

Approval of Lincoln City Libraries and Foundation for LCL Annual Contract – Action Item
This a required annual renewal, and there are no changes except for dates.

Approval of Lincoln City Libraries and Foundation for LCL Annual Lease Agreement – Action Item
This a required annual renewal, and there are no changes except for dates.

Approval of Lincoln City Libraries and Foundation for LCL Book Sale Agreement – Action Item
This a required annual renewal, and there are no changes except for dates.

Approval of Board Meeting Dates for 2024 – Action Item
Required annually.

Approval of a Request for Reconsideration Policy – Action Item
The proposed Request for Reconsideration policy was drafted and reviewed by an LCL management workgroup and is a straight-forward policy with language that puts into place what has already been the practice for a while. It’s important to have this process known and available as a policy for purposes of transparency and good communication for benefit of the public, library staff, and the Board. We have also added some reasonable limits on R for R’s and adjustments to response times. It went through legal review in November, by our Management Team at their meeting in November, and also been reviewed by the Board’s Committee on Administration.

In preparing this new policy, members of the workgroup utilized the One Lincoln Equity Analysis tool as a way to consider any barriers the policy may create, or if it caused exclusion of groups, etc. You’ll see our notes from the review of it in the attachment. As an organization, we will begin using the Equity Analysis tool as an exercise for those same considerations when we create new policy, new services, or make significant changes to public service.

Library Director’s Report for November 2023

The Library’s Staff Association hosted a warm gathering for staff at the annual Holiday Breakfast at Anderson Branch on Friday, December 8. Good food and connecting with each other made for a festive morning. Thanks to all who made it happen again!

The library’s catalog and account App: “LibraryLnk” has ceased functioning due to the severance of service between those companies who support it: SirsiDynix and Solus. Sirsi is our partner for ILS services (catalog and patron databases) and Solus was the company who held proprietary rights for the app. Solus and Sirsi ended their relationship abruptly, which affected not only LCL and our patrons but many libraries across the country—leaving everyone scrambling. The good news is that our patrons can simply use our website catalog (create an “app” for it on the home screen of their phone or tablet) in nearly identical fashion. Searching and reserving items and checking account status works wonderfully with this method. We are releasing a media statement immediately to update patrons and point them to instructions on how to create the app for the website catalog on their device. Sirsi is also releasing a new app that we have available later this spring.

Future Libraries update: The library is ready to move to Phase 1.1 with BVH Architecture for continue planning development—moving forward with identifying the best solutions for improvements in the North, South, and Central Lincoln via a 10-15 year master plan and arriving at estimated costs. Conceptual drawings will be produced during this phase, which will run through approximately May 2023, and a contract to move forward is in process. I’ll seek approval from the Board at the December meeting for this work.

Strategic Planning Update: Parlay Consulting met with two public groups this past week at “Community Conversations,” and also facilitated 3 staff focus groups at different branches. During our biweekly check-in meeting, Parlay related that the public and staff participation was excellent with a lot of good interaction and feedback. The online survey in late November produced over 1,000 completed surveys. There will be a 4-5 week period now where Parlay will review and produce a report on the data and input, and then bring that for the all-day strategic plan workshop slated for February, when the plan is developed. That workgroup will consist of a mixture of staff, board members, and community.

Badges and Books, a collaborative program with the Lincoln Police Department, brought in Officer Jason Hellmuth as a special storyteller at Walt, Anderson, and Eiseley Branches during the first weekend in November. Officer Hellmuth described his work as a police officer and gave a show and tell with all the equipment on his uniform. Each child who attended the program went home with a free book. A reporter from Channel 8 filmed during the program at Walt and it appeared on the 10pm news.

The NLHA Spelling Bee in early November was once again a great fundraising event that brought attention to their support for the Heritage Room. We’re grateful for the Foundation and NLHA, and all who made the evening a fun event.
Monthly Examples of the Strategic Plan in Action

Our Vision: The Library Experience—setting a distinctive tone in promoting and providing lifelong education for our entire community

Interactions

- From Lisa O. at Eiseley: “One afternoon, I noticed a patron walking around the display area, carrying a stack of about 8 books. I asked her if she’d like a basket or a cart and she said she thought she was just about done, and then added another title to her stack. She told me that she had lived in this neighborhood before she and her husband retired, and she still comes back to Eiseley about once a month to get her “reading fix”. She said she has always enjoyed our displays and the staff is always so helpful. I thanked her and she made her way to the circ desk to check out. Nice to have repeat customers like this!

- Also, at Eiseley: “A man who had earlier been using the ELL room with another person, stepped up to the circ desk and said, “I want to introduce you to Maria.” He gestured to a young woman who was standing to his side. “Tomorrow, around this time, she will be one of our newest citizens after she passes her test!” Staff at the circ desk clapped and congratulated her. Both patrons left the library smiling.

- A patron with The Bridge came to the Walt desk to figure out how to get a card. During his registration process he mentioned that technology can be overwhelming for him, especially as he had been institutionalized for the last 20 years or so. He was very happy to be back in the library but wanted some assistance in finding an item to read. Staff explored the catalog with him and assured him that we are always happy to help him find materials. A title by his favorite author was on the shelf and he was jazzed to find a book that was “new.”

- Caralyn K. [BMPL] shared: “A patron was looking at movies and had me help him place holds on some series that aren’t here at BMPL. He was very appreciative of the service, explained he travels by bus so it's difficult for him to get to other branches, and our bringing things to BMPL really helps a lot.”

Programming

- Walt’s first Puzzle Fest was held in the library proper. A huge selection of puzzles of varying difficulties were available to choose from on the front of the grey tier display in the front. Places were reserved in the front, the back, and the youth area of the library. Naturally the youth tables saw the most puzzle activity. Over the course of the two days, 41 people participated in this fun past time. Plans are being made for future puzzle fests.

- NLHA’s Lunch at the Library was on November 1st, with 41 attendees. Matt Steinhausen was the visiting author and he spoke of his recent book The Least Interesting Place.
• Memory Café at Walt is going to take a hiatus during the winter quarter to reorganize promotional activity and programming. Circle of Friends will fill in the time slot each week, increasing to 4-5 sessions per month. Participation in Circle of Friends has soared to over 40 people plus a dog several of the last few sessions. A morning time slot will be investigated for the Memory Café participants, as that is better for people who have dementia. A goal is to reach more people who are still living at home.

Outreach

• On November 7, Susan S. [Eiseley] wrapped up Teentober booktalks at Leffler Middle School. At the conclusion of her final visit, Susan book talked LCL resources to 1,436 middle school students across Lincoln.

Collaboration

• On 11/6/2023, two representatives from Lincoln Public Schools visited Anderson Branch Library. They were creating a promotional video about the Library OneCard. NESU employees Karrie S., Matt N., Lisa V., Kolette S., and Stephanie E. were each taped highlighting a different part of the collection.

• Scott C. [BMPL] created a new booklist to accompany the premiere of “Finding Nemo JR.” at the Lincoln Community Playhouse, and our contact with this creative partner thanked us very much for this cross-promotional resource, saying they love partnering with the libraries!

Community Engagement

• On Saturday, 11/4/2023, Anderson Branch Library hosted the final pop-up book sale of the year. The Foundation for Lincoln City Libraries [FLCL] organized and facilitated each of the sales. Traffic at Anderson Branch Library during the sale was significantly higher than usual, with 337 people visiting the library that day (127 of which visited during the first hour the library was open). During the rest of the month, Anderson Branch Library averaged 195 visitors/day. In addition to boosting traffic at the library, the Pop-Up Sale also gave a boost to the Anderson Branch Book Nook donations for the month.

• Courtney S., Harris L., Catherine S. and Selena S. [Eiseley] are working on special programming for Williams to promote the library to the community in January. Currently, we have scheduled afterschool check-out for Park & Rec students each Wednesday and preschool storytime each Thursday. After the special programming in January, we plan to add more program options for Air Park residents.

Early Childhood

• Ali B. [BMPL] has spent a lot of time this month working to create a more user-friendly and engaging youth space at Bennett Martin. Ali said, “I’ve shifted/pulled out several collections for better browsing. I’ve also moved around the layout of the picture book room, to create a space that is focused on play and books!” The picture book room feels refreshed!

Facilities

• Walt Branch had a security audit with Officer Hellmuth in August. One of the things he suggested for staff to do was develop interior walking routes to assess situations on a regular basis in the absence of the recommended five additional cameras. At the beginning of the month, a group of staff gathered before opening to walk through the three main services areas of the building (checkout, adult, and youth) and discuss what needed to be checked every hour, what to look for, etc. A tracking form has been created for each service area where staff note the time, their initials and any observations or problems. Almost immediately this form was moved online with columns added for “action by staff” and “action by manager.”

Technology

- Anthony V. [BMPL] stated that he has assisted an increased number of patrons with scanning. He said people are very appreciative of the help and Anthony enjoys being able to make a positive difference here at the library.

Additional Areas of Focus—in these, the library usually collaborates with other organizations

All Students

- A high school student came to the Walt front desk asking about resources for a biography report on Harry Connick Jr. She mentioned that she couldn’t find much aside from music. Meagan M. mentioned that we had digital resources which might have more information and pulled up the Biography Reference Bank Center and found a wealth of interviews and articles on Connick Jr. The student especially appreciated that it is a reliable source that she can access from home using her library card.

Building up the Culture of Lincoln

Collections

- Cindy K. [BMPL] said, “I spotted a regular patron looking perplexed by the new book displays. I asked if there was something I could help her with. She said that she had been wanting to find some other books that were similar to the writing of Gladys Taber. I sat down at the desk and found a list of countries and traditional novelists through the Novelist database. I brought her a list of items that we had at Bennett Martin by those authors. She was thrilled. She said “I’ve been wanting to do this. This is just like Christmas.” I then showed her how easy it was to find Novelist at the PAC computer and how to locate book and author readalikes. She was excited to try it out for herself.”

- We’ve been struggling at Walt with patrons hiding books behind cubbies in the board book room. Lisa W. created a bell “alarm” system which makes a noise if someone drops a book behind the cubbies trying to hide it.

Employment

- Caralyn K. [BMPL] relayed this interaction, “A patron came to the desk to say he was wanting a book about balancing part-time work with going to school part-time. We found several books about work life balance but not so many that explain how to go to school and work at the same time. He didn’t know what kind of work he wanted, and he didn’t know what school he would be going to or what he’d study. After pulling several books, I asked if he’d be interested in going across the street to the Job Center. I explained how they have "navigators" there help people find good jobs, and I think they would have some practical resources for him. I had earlier gone to the training at Gere branch where the speaker informed us of how many different agencies they work with, and her enthusiasm for helping people find good jobs and finding ways to make things work, gave me confidence that they would be able to help our patron receive the services that would help him.”

Reading
• Maddie O. [Eiseley] shared “we had four new members attend November’s Once Upon a Crime, thanks to the Facebook Event on our Lincoln City Libraries page! It has been a while since our group has gotten attention, so I am thankful for the upswing in publicity with the Facebook event and the shout-out in the news!

Refugees and Immigrants Services
• Kim J. [BMPL] said, “A Lincoln High School teacher brought her English as a Second Language Class to Bennett Martin to show her students, most of whom are Arabic speakers, all of the resources we have available for them to use in their own language. The students were thrilled to find books that they could check out in Arabic and Kurdish, especially in our New Non-Fiction section on first floor. I showed a couple of students how to use the self-check machine using their Library OneCard accounts. They were happy to be able to check out books to take with them.”

2023 ONE BOOK ONE LINCOLN ADULT COMMUNITY READING PROGRAM
FINAL REPORT

Submitted by Caitlin Lombardo and Jen Jackson, One Book One Lincoln Facilitators
Sarah Dale, Administrative Aide

Introduction:
The 2023 One Book – One Lincoln Adult Community Reading Program began when titles nominated from February 28, 2022 through January 31, 2023 were compiled and sent to Support Services for vetting. The Steering Committee met on January 12th to review the 2022 program, recommend changes for the new year, and propose volunteers to fill vacancies in the Selection Committee. Afterwards, the Selection Committee met for two months starting on February 11th and determined the top three titles. Those titles were released to the public on Memorial Day with voting through August 31st. The final winner was announced on Labor Day. Book discussions were offered starting with the top three announcement, programming was offered from Memorial Day through our final event on October 15th and at the time of this report are continuing to be requested into 2024.

There were 125 nominations for 68 different titles received by the January 31st deadline. Support Services staff reviewed the list and forwarded all 68 titles to the Selection Committee. Continued changes in the publishing industry have impacted the availability of certain formats, including audiobooks on CD and large type. Due to these trends, the Steering Committee elected to adjust some of the vetting criteria to allow either digital or physical audiobooks and to evaluate large type availability as a positive, but not a requirement.

The Selection Committee of 17 members, headed by Chairman David Smith, began meeting on February 11th. The final voting was conducted during the week of April 12th with the selection of the top three 2023 finalists and a top eleven list. Our staff Programming Committee met for the first time on April 20th and continued to meet throughout May to brainstorm programming and event ideas and connections. Selection committee members volunteered to film spoken book blurbs with LNKTV. These well-received videos were then posted each week leading up to the Memorial Day announcement. The popular “Sneak Peek” of the top titles was on May 26th where Jen met with Bethany BookTalks members. The top three finalist titles were announced by David Smith at The Mill Telegraph on Memorial Day, May 29th, 2023. The top three finalists were Four Treasures of the Sky by Jenny Zhang, Demon Copperhead by Barbara Kingsolver, Remarkably Bright Creatures by Shelby Van Pelt. Fifteen copies of each title were presented for checkout to the attendees, all but one copy of Demon Copperhead were checked out on the day.

The Programming Committee, composed of six staff members, met on Thursday, April 20th to begin planning the programs to support the 2023 selected titles. Interested staff were allowed to pre-read the top three selected titles from April through May. Programming Committee members were chosen based on prior membership and personal interest of staff. Approximately 10 staff requested to pre-read titles (10 staff pre-read the titles in 2022). We held a variety of programs this year including writer’s workshops, a discussion panel and graphic novel storytelling workshop. Fall programming included a Zoom discussion with winning author Shelby Van Pelt. The discussion was recorded and available for viewing for one week after the live event.

Appearances and Promotion:
Staff and members of the Selection Committee and Programming Committee participated in promoting the three finalists. Different methods were used to promote the selected titles and programs. The mass media promotion included television appearances on 10 11 NOW, programming and podcast content with Nebraska Public Media and press releases and a feature in the Lincoln Journal Star. Social media promotion included Facebook and Twitter posts. Amy Huffman, Public Information Specialist, provided engaging posts and timely reminders of upcoming events as well as posting of virtual programming.

    ▪ An additional 25 participants from Gere attended an in-person watch party.

Events: Attendance – 268 vs 328 in 2022

1. Pre-Announcement BookTalk Programs at Bethany: The sneak peeks of the top eleven titles chosen by the Selection Committee were held on May 26th. There were 20 attendees at Bethany Branch. The titles were met with excitement and several people shared what of the list they had already read. Many attendees also noted they appreciated the early release videos.

2. Announcement Coffee at the Mill: The Foundation for Lincoln City Libraries sponsored the event. Selection Committee Chair David Smith announced the 2023 top three finalists and the instructions for voting through August 31st. This event was hosted by The Mill at Telegraph, where folks gathered on the patio. The weather was mild but warm and over 100 people were in attendance.

3. Program: Chinese Calligraphy- Interactive: Chun-Yi Coral Su from the Lincoln Chinese Academy and the Lincoln Chinese Cultural Association lead a 60-minute introductory class on Chinese Calligraphy. Participants were able to pronounce and write the characters for numbers 1-10 and learn the fundamentals of how to draw characters. Four people attended this program.

4. Program: Chinese Calligraphy- History and culture: Chun-Yi Coral Su from the Lincoln Chinese Academy and the Lincoln Chinese Cultural Association lead a class teaching about Chinese Calligraphy and the Four Treasures of the Study- the study being how calligraphy and writing were taught both in historical China and as a modern cultural class. One person attended this class.

4. Program: Larksong Writer’s Workshops- Larksong Writer’s Place taught three different workshops for library customers to choose from, based on the three different titles. They were well attended and gave customers a good way to connect with another community program.
   a. Playing with Point of View: What Reading a Novel Can Teach Us About Writing Our Own Stories - July 29th
      i. Remarkably Bright Creatures by Shelby Van Pelt is told from two points of view—one, a traditional third-person narrative, and the other, a first-person epistolary narrative featuring Marcellus, a Giant Pacific Octopus. This workshop will discuss how Van Pelt’s narrative style affects tone, voice, and characterization, and how we can improve these skills in our own writing. In addition, we will delve into how the novel addresses loss, grief, loneliness and aging, and how we might successfully incorporate such difficult themes into our own writing. This session was held at Walt and Seven people attended.
   b. Reading Like a Writer Workshop-OBOL Writer’s Workshop: Learning to Survive in a World Not Your Own - August 12th
ii. In life, we are sometimes forced to change to survive. In Four Treasures of the Sky by Jenny Tinghui Zhang, we travel with Daiyu on her journey as she morphs and navigates through 19th century China and America. Join us as we dive into her survival story of gender, patriarchy, and ethnicity and them allow her story to help us explore similar (or very different!) experiences in our own lives through a series of writing exercises. This session was held at Larksong Writer’s Workshop and 7 people attended.

c. Once Again with a Twist - August 17th

i. Retelling a favorite story is as old as literature. Barbara Kingsolver reimagined a classic in her Pulitzer Prizewinning novel, Demon Copperhead. Join us in a generative workshop where we consider this outstanding novel, and explore ways to construct your own story on the scaffolding of a classic. All the great writers do it, and you can, too. This session was held at Gere and six people attended.

5. Program: Demon’s Journey: Advocacy for At-Risk Youth:

a. On August 6th, Dawn Rockey from Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA,) Taylor Brethouwer from The Bridge, Kayla Abel from Family Service Lincoln and a representative from CEDARS joined co-chair Caitlin Lombardo for a Q&A about youth-at-risk, how the foster and legal system work and how the community can support youth as they move through these challenges. One person attended this event.

6. Program: Draw Like Demon- Illustrated Story Workshop:

a. Bob Hall taught a class on writing your own 3-4 panel comic on August 26th. Bob Hall has illustrated and edited a number of high profile characters over the years, stand-out among them The Amazing Spiderman. Nine people attended this event.

7. Program – Author Visit with Shelby Van Pelt- Shelby Van Pelt shared the story of writing Remarkably Bright Creatures. This was followed by a question-and-answer session moderated by Caitlin Lombardo. Over 68 community members attended the virtual component of the event with an additional 25 attendees at Gere. The watch parties spurred conversation beyond the book. Customers discussed the event itself and Van Pelt’s responses to various questions.

8. Community Conversations: Remarkably Bright Creatures had six attendees. Four Treasures of the Sky had two attendees and Demon Copperhead had 12 attendees. The response to these programs have been a bit hit and miss over the past few years. Often attendees have not read the book being discussed, but are wanting to know more. This makes for a challenge to the discussion facilitator. The Programming Committees should consider additional avenues for programming in lieu of these book discussions.
Private Book Group Discussions: Participants – 184 in 2023, 153 in 2022
Public Book Discussions – 20 (over three programs) in 2023, 20 participants (over three programs) in 2022

Three Community Book Discussions were held over the summer in addition to Bethany BookTalks. At the time of the report, 22 private book discussions were presented to 184 participants. There are five more book discussions scheduled after the preparation of this report, as late as March 2023. The private book discussion requests were varied and included titles from the Top Eleven. Remarkably Bright Creatures had seven requests. Demon Copperhead was requested six times and Four Treasures of the Sky was requested four times. Among the Top Eleven title requests: Punching the Air, Mad Honey, The Other Mother and The Seed Keeper were all requested twice and Lessons in Chemistry was requested by one private group. Offering staff facilitation of Top Eleven titles resulted in a significant increase in the number of requests and lengthened the season from Memorial Day to March of the following year, allowing the program to maintain momentum.

Circulation of Top 11 Titles – print and digital in 2023: 10,148

For the first time, the 2023 program, promoted the full Top Eleven listings throughout the season. Included are circulation statistics for those titles. Hoopla did not carry all Top Eleven titles, so for this reason statistics for Hoopla were only collected on the Top Three titles. Circulation increased in the print and Libby categories. This is attributed to the overall push in promoting titles in the lead up to the Memorial Day announcement and the popularity of the digital medium. Circulation was steady in the Book Club in a Bag category. Circulation decreased in the Book on CD and Large Print categories. This is attributed to the decline in popularity and availability of these formats. Because statistics have not previously been collected on Hoopla titles there is no clear conclusion, however the statistics are similar to the statistics on Libby.

The same number of print materials were purchased for each of the Top Three Finalists in 2023 and 2022 (150 total) but the number of copies and money spent on non-print materials were impacted by the purchase of fewer digital copies in 2022. In 2023, purchases were also made of the Top Eleven to meet minimum demand. The cost of Hoopla’s digital services has negatively impacted our budget. Hoopla’s cost cannot be directly compared to Libby as Libby consists of purchasing a specific number of copies that are available for checkout one at a time. Hoopla is a streaming service with no wait list- the library pays based on the number of checkouts but cannot control how high that number goes. $351.42 was spent on titles nominated but not yet owned by Lincoln City Libraries for the Selection Committee to consider. These items did not make it into the Top Eleven.

Voting:
In 2023 online voting was available through the One Book One Lincoln web page. Amy Huffman, Public Information Specialist advertised the link’s availability on the website using various social media platforms. We also encouraged the public by word of mouth, flyers and on the website header. This year 431 votes were cast for the following titles: Demon Copperhead (149), Remarkably Bright Creatures (234), and Four Treasures of the Sky (49). This is an increase from 243 in 2022. In previous years an average of five ballots were received where voters made comments regarding the selected titles on this year’s digital ballot, we received a total of 87 comments from voters this year.
Participation: 7,959 in 2023 vs 5,194 in 2022

Collaboration:
Lincoln City Libraries collaborated with Family Service Lincoln and CASA to run a discussion panel on helping at-risk youth. Larksong Writer’s Place was a collaborator again this year on a series of workshops to support each of the titles. Lincoln Chinese Academy and the Asian Community and Cultural Center partnered with us to offer workshops on calligraphy and its history. Partnerships and collaboration continue to be an important way to connect with the community and bring in new readers.

Impact:
The goal of the program is to encourage reading and dialogue by creating a community-wide reading and discussion experience. All three of this year’s titles had popular and author appeal to a broad audience in Lincoln. The following comments are representative of customers’ opinions regarding the 2023 selections:

- “I loved what you did with the Top Eleven early release videos!”
- At the Coffee at the Mill event a mother and teenage daughter checked out Remarkably Bright Creatures and Four Treasures of the Sky. They are each going to read the book and then swap. They intend to have a mother-daughter book club!
- Our first book club discussion request came in on May 30th, the day after the Memorial Day event. We continue to have book discussion requests through the time of the creation of this report.
- A patron attending the Chinese Calligraphy class described herself as not typically a One Book One Lincoln participant. She had previously wanted to start learning Chinese Calligraphy when she lived in China years ago. She had all the supplies but wasn’t sure where to start. She saw our event and waffled for a bit but finally decided to come. After the class, where we learned about the 4 treasures of calligraphy, she decided she should read the book.
• Of the 87 comments we received with votes- 73 expressed positive feelings about the title they voted for, our selections overall and/or the programming. Three of the comments were negative feelings about the titles. Twenty-six comments mentioned it was hard to choose between three great titles.

• Comment left on voting: “I had always seen my mother read the One Book One Lincoln titles every year and never thought a thing of it, since I thought I wasn't much of a reader... Remarkably Bright Creatures was the first full book I had read in a long time. It was such a powerful story of finding the people you truly care for in your life, how happiness and help can come from the strangest places, and how regardless of what you believe of someone to be true, you should never give up on them. Every living thing is truly a remarkable creature in their own right and that no matter how many times you mess up, you need to push forward, cause you matter to someone out there. Even if the past makes you think otherwise, you truly do matter... While sadly I know (Demon Copperhead) the most checked out of the three and is likely to win, I will still have enjoyed this years selections, and be so thankful for it's inspiration to push me back into reading again. Thank you and I look forward for years to come.” [sic] Commenter #50

The book club meetings had robust discussions where readers learned from others’ experiences. The most positive feedback was for Remarkably Bright Creatures. The title had broad appeal and participants felt it was approachable and had a main character you either related to or knew in your real life. Demon Copperhead was a close second. Participants were passionate about voting for this title and enjoyed discussing the book despite its, at times, dark themes. Four Treasures of the Sky received mixed feedback—readers felt the topic was important but was emotionally difficult to finish. Participants voiced concern about heavy themes but largely agreed the books were worth reading and discussing.

Recommendations:

The initiation of a Top Ten/Eleven Countdown with weekly releases of titles was very popular and drove circulation statistics up across all eleven titles. Inclusion of the young adult genre, novel in verse and graphic novels has resulted in a number of lively and positive comments- the committee should continue to keep that in mind when selecting titles of appeal and discuss-ability. Early program planning should include brainstorming for program ideas for the eventual winner, and as soon as the greatest vote-getter is identified, planning for celebratory final events should begin.

Community Conversations were not well attended, and we should consider modifying or discontinuing them. Due to rising costs of materials and costs associated with programming we would advocate for the exploration of a sponsorship or additional external avenues of funding.

As our two most highly attended events were bolstered by extra promotion, we should continue to work with Amy Huffman, Public Information Specialist, to promote events. In concert with this, we should expand our reading group mailing lists to include the private book clubs we’ve worked with this year, so they can be included in direct promotional emails. We should also continue to work with Huffman and Librarian Scott Scholz to promote partnerships with KZUM Community Radio and Nebraska Public Media.

Submitted December 7, 2023
RESOLUTION

Recognizing David Smith for his contributions to One Book One Lincoln

Whereas David Smith has faithfully served Lincoln City Libraries’ One Book One Lincoln committee for fifteen years, twelve of those as Chair,

Whereas through those years he has fairly and even-handedly guided the committee in narrowing down nearly 1,000 titles to thirty-six Top Three Finalists to present to the Lincoln community,

Whereas he has expertly wordsmithed the descriptions of the Top Three titles for each Memorial Day announcement to pique reader interest,

Whereas he has skillfully and amiably represented the One Book One Lincoln program in person, on TV, and most recently in specially crafted video spots,

Whereas he has shaped and guided the committee, keeping them organized, clearly explaining the rules of the exercise, counseling all to put aside personal preferences and think of the community as a whole, and then equably and fair-mindedly hearing and valuing each member’s opinions and critiques,

Whereas he has remained calm in the midst of any storms, keeping the committee afloat and focused in the wake of deadlines, controversies and critical decisions, and

Whereas he has been the most gracious host, yearly opening his home to the committee for fellowship, feasting, and final threes

BE IT RESOLVED that that Lincoln City Libraries Board of Trustees expresses its sincere appreciation and gratitude to David Smith and adopts this resolution in tribute and appreciation of his contributions to and support of the Lincoln City Libraries.

POLICY TITLE: REQUEST FOR RECONSIDERATION OF LIBRARY MATERIALS

PURPOSE: This policy establishes the request for reconsideration process.

IMPLEMENTATION: Lincoln City Libraries welcomes residents of the City of Lincoln and Lancaster County to communicate expressions of opinion concerning materials acquired for the Library collection. Requests to remove or reclassify materials will be considered within the context of the policies set forth in the Materials Selection Policy.

Procedural rules:

- An item will be reviewed only once within a five-year period unless the content has undergone major revisions.
- One active request per person at a time

A resident is encouraged to first address a concern about library materials with a staff person. Anyone who wishes to request a specific item be reconsidered or reclassified must complete and sign the Request for Reconsideration of Library Resources form. The completed form will be forwarded to the Library administrative office for review. While under reconsideration, library materials will remain in circulation.

Requests for Reconsideration will result in expenses to the library in the form of staff time, the potential purchase of additional copies of the title for committee members to review, and any other resources needed for the committee to evaluate the title being reconsidered.

The following steps will occur:

- A staff-led Request for Reconsideration Committee will review the request and make a recommendation to the Library Director, who will provide a written decision to the requestor within 60 days of original receipt.
- A person who receives an unsatisfactory decision may appeal to the Library Board by notifying the Director in writing within 30 days.
- The Library Board will then render a decision within 60 days of receipt of appeal.
